On Thursday 16th March 2023, a group of Xbox Ambassadors attended the Microsoft Experience Centre in London for a community event with special guests and a panel discussion with Xbox Ambassador Community Champions Eden0032 and Zenosos.

As guests arrived, they took their seats for the start of the event: a Forza Horizon laptime challenge! Participants raced with passion as they competed to reach the top of the leaderboard, with prizes being awarded for the top three racers. Everyone seemed to enjoy taking part including special guests and influencers KojisRevenge, KayPOWXD and MCFixer who also came along to the event.

The gaming session of the meetup event gave participants the opportunity to enjoy a variety of Game Pass games on the custom-built setups in the Gaming Lounge as well as practice the Forza Horizon lap. Meeting other Ambassadors and making new friends was also a special part of this event – I've certainly made new contacts thanks to the event!

Shortly after everyone participated in the Forza Horizon laptime challenge, attendees relocated to the Community Theatre for a panel discussion with Community Champions Eden0032 and Zenosos, joined by Xbox Community Lead Taxel and Xbox Community Experience Manager Noie via Microsoft Teams. The session focused on each persons history within gaming, from careers to volunteering. The panel also discussed a range of other informal topics including favourite things about the Xbox Ambassadors community, memories from the program and inspiration for how audience members can get more involved in the Xbox Ambassadors program. Attendees also had the chance to have their say about a very important topic – whether pineapple belongs on pizza!

After the panel discussion, attendees had an opportunity to network with others alongside snacks and drinks. Members of staff from the Microsoft Experience Centre were on hand to talk all things Microsoft and Xbox. Everyone had an amazing time at the Xbox Ambassador Community Meetup!

This is the third Xbox Ambassador community event I have organized and I loved doing them. Each time, I learn more about the Xbox Ambassador community and the people who support positive and inclusive gaming. Stay tuned for details of the next Xbox Ambassador community meetup – plans are already in the works for the next event!

Xbox Ambassadors Staff want to say a big thank you to Eden0032 for all his efforts in getting this event together and to all the other community and staff who attended on the day!
